

Stephanie Driggers

Vice President, Legal Department

Stephanie was named Vice President of Legal in July 2020. In this role, Stephanie leads the Corporate Legal Department's Litigation, Labor & Employment practice group, responsible for overseeing the company's commercial litigation, employment litigation, labor relations legal support and employment related legal advice and strategy.

Stephanie joined the Legal Department of UPS in 2014 as the Company's first Privacy Attorney. In 2016, she transitioned to a global litigation role managing high profile and complex international and domestic litigation related to competition and consumer and employee class actions. She also had legal responsibility for Postal Strategy.

Prior to joining UPS, Stephanie was a partner at Alston & Bird LLP where she concentrated her practice on civil litigation. She also has expertise in cybersecurity and data breach response. She is a Certified Information Privacy Professional (CIPP) for the U.S., a Certified Information Privacy Manager (CIPM) and a Fellow of Information Privacy (FIP).

She served two years as chair of the UPS Women's Leadership Development (WLD) Business Resource Group. She focuses her pro bono and board service work on early childhood education and access to justice. She currently serves on the advisory board for the Atlanta Legal Aid Society.

Stephanie has participated in a number of executive education programs, including the UPS Senior Leadership Development Program, Yale University School of Management Women's Leadership Development Program, The Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania Finance and Accounting for the Non-Financial Manager, and UPS Executive Perspectives at Emory University's Goizueta Business School.

Stephanie is a graduate of Vanderbilt University Law School and received her undergraduate degree from Stetson University. She clerked for Judge Thomas A. Wiseman, Jr. of the United States District Court in the Middle District of Tennessee.
